COURSES

The programme (Model III) consists of Common Courses with 8 credits, Core Course, Choice Based Course, and Complementary Courses with 107 credits and Open Course with 3 credits.

Choice Based Core Course

Departments have the freedom to change current papers /choose other papers if found relevant. But changes should not affect number of teaching hours (workload of each teacher) of each department.

Open Course

- All students are expected to do one open course in the fifth semester.

Project

All students shall do a project related to the core course. The project can be done individually or in group. However, the viva on this project will be conducted individually. The projects are to be identified during the fifth semester of the programme with the help of the supervising teacher. The report of the project in duplicate is to be submitted to the department by the end of sixth semester and are to be produced before the external examiners. Students should identify their topics in consultation with the supervising teacher. Each department has the freedom to select the area of the project. Credit must be given to original contributions, so students should take care not to copy from other projects.

Project Guidelines

1. There should be one teacher in charge of the entire class. One teaching hour is to be allotted to that teacher to familiarize the students with Research Methodology and Project writing.
2. One teacher in the department should supervise a group of five or six students in the project work. Students should identify their topics in consultation with the supervising teacher.
3. Each department has the freedom to select the area of the project. Credit will be given to original contributions. So, students should take care not to copy from other projects.
4. For practice based projects the student can select project topics based on questions relevant to theoretical discussions and models in the field of Media Studies. The investigation will partly be fulfilled by means of practice. The creative product has to be an original work of the student.

5. Practice-based research can presently be carried out in the fields of photography and film. The creative outcomes of the study are assessed as part of the student's English Literature and Communication Studies degree along with a written component. The practical and written components of practice-based degrees form a coherent whole. Both components must address the research question.
6. The written thesis reflects on the creative process and provides the conceptual basis as well as the theoretical framework within which the creative product can be critically analysed and examined. Because practice informs the research process, the student has to document the entire process of the practical work and reflect upon it in the written component.
7. The student has to regularly present to the guide the progress of the work.
8. Two internal examinations are to be conducted by the department – one written examination on Research Methodology and one oral examination on the area of the project. There will be an external evaluation of the project, along with a viva voce.
9. The project report must be limited to 25 pages for theory based projects and 15 pages for practice based projects. There must be a bibliography at the end and the methodology of research must be followed while writing the project.
10. The written project need to be soft bound only.
11. The last date has to be strictly adhered to.
